

Suitable for Framing

My best original phrases

By

Michael Parra

Rainbows are for chasing

Neither hope nor satisfaction can be preserved,
only replenished;
Disappointment is cumulative.

Everyone is a teacher,
However skilled or reluctant,
If only by example.

Were I wealthy
Leisure time would be a good thing.

Purpose is a collaborative effort

In hard times the poor complain;
the wealthy complain and travel.

Poverty...take it or leave it.

Neither money nor sex is appreciated
when offered with pity.

Affection flourishes best when its inconsistent tempo is embraced.

Mistrust is a durable stain,
difficult to remove once soiled.

Apathy is fatiguing.

Joy is a discipline

practice, practice, practice

Another year,
another opus.

This is the year
that almost wasn't.

The mirror reflects the present...

yoga in a glass

Sustained vulnerability,
so vital to growth and education,
requires courage and practice.

The question about anything is either “Why?” or “Why bother?”

Growth is uncomfortable.

Live with it.

It's tribal,

Exclusion = Death.

Our primal desire is belonging.

The difference between interest & passion
is INITIATIVE.